

Noted Lodgeman Major Taylor Dies

Aurora—Funeral services will be held Friday from Trinity Church of England for one of North York's best known and most respected sons, Major W. H. "Henry" Taylor, who passed away early Tuesday morning.

Major Taylor had not been in good health the last few years but had carried on with his duties until the past few weeks.

Born on May 24, 1863, in Aurora, in the residence in which he died, he was the son of the late William and Rachel Taylor and with the exception of a year spent in the United States, he had resided in Aurora continuously. He was educated at Aurora schools and was for many years engaged in the painting and decorating business.

In 1885 he enlisted for the North-West Rebellion with the 12th York Rangers, with which unit he was continuously associated until the late 20's. He was regimental sergeant major for many years, later accepting a commission and retiring with the rank of major. He was the founder of the cadet movement in the Aurora schools and for some years assisted in their training. On the annual cadet inspection, the Aurora high school cadets always gave him the salute at the corner of Wellington and Wells Sts.

He was a member of the Orange Order for over 60 years, being a past master of both Aurora and King lodges, past district master, past county master. Under his guidance, the charter of L.O.L. 643 was restored and with the exception of two years, he never missed a 12th of July parade. He was a past commander of the Scarlet chapter and a past preceptor and district preceptor of the Royal Black Knights. At the time of his death he was assistant treasurer of the Grand Lodge, Royal Black Chapter, Ontario West, being re-elected a few weeks ago in absentia.

For 40 consecutive years he served as district secretary. A trustee of the Loyal True Blue Home and Orphanage, he was especially interested in the welfare of the children and each Easter conducted a campaign to provide eggs and treats for the children. He was a past master of Rising Sun Masonic lodge and held the 50-year jewel, and he was also a member of the Aurora Chapter.

Though interested in both politics and municipal affairs he never sought office. He was a life-long Conservative, and in dominion, provincial and municipal elections, he served as returning officer. Last year after nearly 20 years service, he retired as town assessor. At the time of his death, he was clerk of the 6th Division Court, the oldest Division Court Clerk in Ontario, serving for over 25 years.

A member of Trinity Church of England, he had served the church for many years in different capacities, and was a regular delegate to the Synod of the Toronto Diocese.

In 1882 he married Sarah Jane Pett, and Mrs. Taylor predeceased him 15 years ago. He is survived by two sons, William and Frederick of Toronto, and four daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Lindsay (Rae), Miss Evelyn Taylor, Reg. N., and Mrs. Harold Bridgman (Clara) of Toronto, and Mrs. Robert Hodgkinson (Maude) of Aurora; one brother, Robert of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. John Hargrave of Toronto, and Mrs. Evelyn Milgate of Georgetown.

Cardinal McGuigan Conducts Confirmation

Newmarket—On Thursday evening His Eminence Cardinal McGuigan administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 43 candidates in St. John Chrysostom's church.

Promptly at 7.15 the confirmation class marched from the school to the church, the girls, neat and trim in their school uniforms with scarlet side sashes, the boys with scarlet arm bows with streamers. Their pews in the church were marked with scarlet and white ribbons. The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with scarlet tulips, white snaps, candles and scarlet vigil lights.

The men of the parish formed a guard of honor from the rectory to the church. At 7.30, His Eminence, assisted by Rt. Rev. F. Allen, D.P., and accompanied by his two chaplains, Rev. F. McGinn, Richmond Hill, and Rev. A. McNichol, Stayner, and preceded by the clergy and sanctuary boys, entered the church. After the liturgical reception at the entrance had taken place, His Eminence proceeded to the sanctuary where he spoke feelingly to the assembled congregation. After catechizing those to be confirmed, His Eminence explained the sacred character of the great Sacrament he was about to administer and urged all candidates to be faithful to daily prayer, to Holy Mass and to practise devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary.

After confirmation, His Eminence again spoke to the class reminding them of the great evils accompanying the drinking habit and exacted a pledge from those confirmed that they refrain from all intoxicating drinks until the age of 21 years.

The solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. R. Lynett, Aurora, with Rev. J. Kellor, De La Salle College, Aurora, as deacon and Rev. J. Duffy, Schomberg, as sub-deacon. Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Father Bolan, Bradford; Rev. A. McMahon, Thornhill; Rev. T. J. McCabe, P.P., Newmarket, and his assistant, Rev. M. J. Clifford, Toronto.

The special music for the occasion was beautifully rendered by the choir under the direction of Rev. Sister Mary Jane.

After the ceremonies were over His Eminence posed for a photo with the confirmation class.

Dollar Shortage Cuts Davis Export Sales

Newmarket—A few employees of the Davis Leather Co. have been laid off because of the company's reduced production in order to come in line with present sales, according to R. B. Lind, general manager. The effect of the dollar shortage in other countries, especially in England, has caused a decrease in leather sales for the Davis Co. as well as most other tanneries and shoe manufacturers, he said.

There are marked forces in world events that will affect leather sales, such as a new defence program and the European recovery program, he said. He forecast that conditions would likely be improved when the E.R.P. got under way and that production operations would increase again.

AROUND THE RIDING

Activity Increases As June 7 Nears

Newmarket—Increasing activities among the political parties are seen as June 7, election day, draws nearer. There was a well attended meeting of the C.C.F. association at Schomberg last Tuesday night. Nearly 60 people were present and a question period lasted an hour after the addresses were over. Harold Ghent, vice-president of the local club, said that the C.C.F. is the only party that offers a question period at each and all of the meetings. Meetings are scheduled for Sutton, Saturday, May 22, Aurora, Saturday, May 29, and Belhaven, probably June 3. The party reports excellent response in the south end of the riding.

Last Friday night the Armour Heights Liberal association held the annual ladies' night at the Cricket Club and Monday night the Armour Heights Women's Association had a meeting. Last night Aurora Liberal association held a meeting as well as the Holland Landing association. Tonight there will be meetings at Roche's Point, Sutton and Pefferlaw. Activities are scheduled for the Richmond Hill Fair next Monday and Schomberg on Tuesday.

The Progressive Conservative association has set up committee rooms at Club 14, 14 Millard Ave. The phone number is 173. Tomorrow night there will be a public meeting at Club 14, at 8 p.m. The speakers will be Squadron Leader John Perry, D.F.C., D.S.O., and Bar, as well as the candidate, Major Alex. Mackenzie.

High School Area Given District O.K.

Newmarket—The formation of a high school area was favored unanimously at a meeting of district school boards on Tuesday night at the high school. Reeve Arthur D. Evans, speaking on behalf of the mayor, said that Newmarket council will approve of the formation and put through the necessary papers immediately.

The municipalities that will have a share in the high school area are Newmarket, Sutton, East and North Gwillimbury, Whitechurch and Georgina townships.

A committee from the Newmarket board, A. M. Mills, A. N. Belugin and Principal J. W. Lockhart, went to the department of education recently, to get information about school areas and new building costs. While at the department, the committee found that Sutton had sent a letter in favor of the school area plan. A year ago Sutton was not ready to go in with the formation of an area here.

The committee found that the cost of a new suitable high school accommodation in Newmarket would be $104,000 and that the department felt that this district should form an area and then find accommodation it required.

Mount Albert, which closed its continuation school last year on the assumption that an area would be formed, has been sending pupils to Newmarket by bus. According to members of the Mount Albert board, the building which has a $14,000 debt has been turned over to the Mount Albert public school board. Mount Albert representatives were concerned about which board, the new area board, or the Mount Albert public school board, would take the debt.

W. A. Jennings, who was representing the department at the meeting said that a representative from S.S. 13, the clerk of East Gwillimbury, and a representative from the high school board would make up a committee as arbitrators of the rights and obligations of the two boards.

Sutton board members said that they had been considering additions to their high school and had formerly been opposed to going into the area. The assets and liabilities of schools of the municipalities would be absorbed by the school area, according to Mr. Jennings. The school board would be formed by the appointment, according to population of two representatives from Newmarket, two from Whitechurch, Sutton one, East and North Gwillimbury one each, Georgina one, York county one, one from the largest public school board (Newmarket), one from a separate school and possibly two additional representatives from the county.

Mr. Jennings said that the school tax would be on the full assessment in urban centres and one fifth of the assessment of the rural municipalities. Making an estimate with rough assessment figures in the area, he said operating costs at about $70,000 would put the area in a category allowing a department grant of 75 percent, including transportation costs.

It was decided at the meeting that necessary papers dissolving boards and forms for the council would be signed and mailed immediately to York county council so that application to form an area could be done right away.

With the exception of the Swansea district, according to Mr. Jennings, the entire county will now be under the school area plan.

Taking part in the service were Betty McDonald, who read Princess Elizabeth's challenge to youth, given by her in Capetown, South Africa, on the occasion of her 21st birthday, and Gordon Cockburn who read a significant passage from John Buchan's "Memory Hold the Door," and Scout Douglas Cockburn, who as "Great Heart" answered the call of the King in John Oxenham's well known poem.

Using as his text, "Be Courteously," Rev. Boudreau spoke primarily to the boys and girls present for the service. Special music by the organist, Miss Mac Patterson, and the choir completed this youth worship.

Urges Policy On Town Renovation

Newmarket—The town council will have to decide on a policy toward improving paved roads, the street lighting system and a fire alarm system in the next few months, said Reeve Arthur D. Evans at a meeting of council on Monday night.

He said that committee reports would be coming in shortly on the improvements needed and that the council will have to decide whether it is going to take out debentures covering the next ten years and "put the town in shape now." Councillor Frank Bowser said that there would soon be a committee report on sidewalks, and they could also be included.

Mr. Evans said that the mill rate should have been down to 40 this year in preparation for such a debenture debt spread over the next ten years.

A by-law covering the levying of taxes for 1948 was passed making the first instalment payable June 15 and the second instalment October. First instalments before June 15 get a 1 percent discount, second instalments before June 15, a 2 percent discount. Second instalments paid before September 15 get a 1 percent discount and before October 15, a one-half percent discount. Discounts on the second instalment are allowed only if the first instalment has been paid.

A by-law to appoint a sanitary and weed inspector for Newmarket was read. Ronald Watt has resigned from this position. It was suggested that the obvious person to appoint was Chief Constable Burbridge in place of former Chief Constable Watt. Mr. Burbridge, who was present at Monday night's meeting, refused the position, saying that a full time man is needed for the job. He said that he has been helping out Dr. Dales, M.O.H., in the meantime. The by-law was held over for further reading.

Also held over for further reading was a by-law to amend the garbage collection and disposal by-law, stipulating that "garbage and other refuse shall mean all rejected, abandoned and discarded household waste, either animal or vegetable," and adding in another clause that "not more than six bushels of garbage and other refuse including ashes shall be placed for disposal . . . on each pickup." Councillor Tom Birrell said that the collector could not lift some of the material placed out for collection. Mr. Bowser said that he wanted to be able to set out garden refuse, which is not stipulated in any clause. Councillors spent much time in discussing garbage problems and the value of this by-law.

A further by-law was introduced, governing the use of buses in Newmarket, and which provided that licenses be required to operate buses and that certain conditions and standards stipulated, should be maintained. Further reading was held over.

York No. 1 Teachers Meet At Newmarket

Newmarket—The York No. 1 Urban Teachers' Association held a convention at the King George Hotel here on Friday afternoon when teachers from Aurora, Newmarket, Markham, Richmond Hill and Stouffville gathered for a dinner and program.

H. A. Jackson, supervising principal of the Newmarket public schools, was elected president of the association and Mr. Scott, principal at Richmond Hill, vice-president. Elinoor Humphreys, Richmond Hill, is secretary-treasurer.

Guest speakers at the convention were Miss Marion Allan, Forest Hill, a teacher of remedial reading, Verne Trott, a psychologist at Forest Hill Village schools, and Miss Norma Hackett, secretary of the Ontario Teachers' Federation.

Miss Allan said that she thought that during the introduction of basic reading, the reading should be a contribution to the pupil's all round development, to promote social and personal well being. Some pedagogical factors causing reading disabilities, she said, are, insufficient reading material, which causes lack of flexibility, large classes that make individual training or small group training difficult, over stressing one teaching method, such as sight method only or phonic method only, failing to see the cause of the difficulties, consideration only of the chronological age of the child and not the mental age, and projection of the child into the next level of reading before he is ready.

For the teacher's own reading, Miss Allan suggested that the adult reader forget about having to read a whole book just because he takes it out of the library.

FARM BULLETIN

LOOK OUTSIDE your FENCES
While it is an extra chore for farmers to keep down weeds along the highway, a few hours of work done regularly, outside your fences, will mean fewer weeds inside them, later on.

Weed pulling may be tiresome, but the way daisy, bladder campion, Canada Thistle, cinquefoil, king devil, orange hawkweed, etcetra, reduce crops is a serious matter. Early cutting of hay works wonders in weed control, too.

2, 4-D for chemical weed control is admittedly not a cure-all, but seems to give more hope than any previous development has done. If you have a weed or pest problem, consult the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa. You can save a lot of time and work, by doing this.

When you have a money problem we invite you to consult the experienced, friendly manager of our district branch. He can give you sound and timely advice on financial problems... a good man to know.

The arrest was made at Virginia Point, near Sutton. Mrs. Agnes Charles, an Indian in the company of Whidden, was fined $25 and costs of $3.25 for having liquor, contrary to the Indian Act.

Clifford Harold White, Sunderland, testified that he went to Sutton to meet Whidden and Mrs. Charles, a friend of his wife, who were frequent visitors at his home in Sunderland. He said the accused often brought liquor on the weekend and that he had been notified by them that they were coming April 24 but he had missed them in Sutton when he went there to meet them. Whidden and Mrs. Charles were arrested on their way to Sunderland at Virginia Point when liquor was found by police in Mrs. Charles' handbag and suitcase.

Counsel for defence, Mr. Purcell, contended that circumstances did not constitute "supplying" liquor, that the accused had packed the liquor with some of his clothes in Mrs. Charles' suitcase without her knowledge at the time, but that it still remained his property. He said that Whidden, a pilot of two years overseas and two in Canada, had no previous record and was not an offender of this kind.

He said that he did not think that this was a particular case for the court to use as an example for other offenders against the Indian Act. A further charge against Whidden for unlawfully possessing liquor was withdrawn.

Billboard Slogans Not Necessary

The Ontario Liberals have a constructive program to offer the province. It is in keeping with the needs of the people. It answers the criticisms levelled against the Drew regime. Unlike the C.C.F., it has kept its objectives within the limits of the public purse. It is a program which party members and the general public alike can approve. Why, then, mar it with the use of the cheap slogan, "Give Drew the Gate in '48", which has been appearing over the names of Toronto candidates?

The slogan contributes nothing to the Liberal cause. It does detract from the dignity of the party's aspirations. It suggests that the only reason for voting Liberal is to rid the province of Drew. An extreme inference which will certainly be played upon by the opposition, is that the Liberals are the lesser of two evils. Political parties don't win elections with such negative appeals, or if winning, retain the respect of the people.

The use of such campaign material is the more foolish because of the wealth of opportunity for criticism of the Drew regime on a straightforward, factual basis. The tangled mess into which provincial-federal relations have been hopelessly mired to the detriment of the country, the hydro power shortage, the lack of housing, the maddeningly slow payment of old age pensions. In these there is ample proof of the undesirability of the return of a Progressive Conservative government. But what can the public conclude if in preference to these facts, there is a descent to cheap slogans?

Why are such common sense points in the Liberal platform as the payments up to 20 percent on farm purchases, municipal representation on the hydro commission, gasoline tax reduction, a labor code, increased compensation benefits, old age pension increases, housing tax relief, attention to the needs of Northern Ontario, a well rounded agriculture program—must these be ignored in preference to such billboard tactics?

Opposing political candidates are no longer dressed in horns and a forced tail. Instead there is sympathy for the victim of such practices—have the results of the "Gestapo" campaign of the last election been forgotten so soon? Those billboards are just costing the Liberal party votes.

The Liberal party has an excellent opportunity to regain its supremacy in the coming election. It has a cause, a leader and a platform. It doesn't have to use cheap slogans so why do it?

What Does The Record Show

Representative government is a slogan as old as this province but it is continually refreshed in application. Ontario has just passed through a period when the full meaning of what that slogan represents was apparent to every citizen. With its overwhelming majority, the Drew government was without effective opposition to any step it chose to take, or not to take.

Most blatant example of the power of a disproportionate majority was in the passage of the legislation which gave Toronto and other large cities cocktail lounges. The bill was rushed through the house in unseemly haste. There was no concern with public opinion, there was no time for reasoned debate. Fearing public outcry, the Drew government made the liquor legislation law and then under the protection of its legality, declared the cocktail legislation to be the will of the people.

A numerically strong opposition could have prevented these tactics, or sufficiently delayed the passage of the bill so that public opinion might be heard.

Other evidence of the iniquity of an overwhelming majority in a democratic assembly has been the manner in which the planks of opposing parties have been adopted for Progressive Conservative use in the elections. The most recent example has been the Progressive-Conservative promises of attention to Northern Ontario. The needs of Northern Ontario have been given full attention by opposing parties. They were ignored until election time by the Progressive-Conservatives. Now that it is the people's vote which determines the issue, and not the vote of an overbalanced assembly, there is growing evidence of concern for those things ignored during the term of the legislature.

But there is the other side of it as well. With its advantage of a large majority, there was no hindrance to the accomplishment of the 22-point program on which the Progressive-Conservative party was carried to power. Yet what was accomplished of that program? The record speaks for itself. It has become notorious, not in its accomplishment, but in the manner in which it was ignored. By the record, the Drew regime shows only a failure to do what it promised, and a willingness to use its power to push through legislation which, if brought before the bar of public opinion, would have been rejected.

A Welcome Announcement

Newmarket citizens will welcome the announcement of Reeve Arthur Evans that the council must prepare to decide on a program of municipal renovation which will include improved street lighting, road and sidewalk repair, and an improved fire alarm system. Committees of the council have been studying these needs and the best way in which they can be met, and as Reeve Evans notes, their reports will be coming in at an early date. In the past, the fate of such reports was generally oblivion. Thus it is encouraging to see Reeve Evans anticipating them and warning of the decisions which should be made.

Of Dollars And Distance

The dollar shortage for most of us has been an academic issue, and the travail of the passage of the European Recovery Plan through the United States Congress has been a matter to be viewed with the detachment of distance. Yet both these things are having a very real effect on the economy of Newmarket. The Davis Leather Co. Ltd. has had to lay off men because of the dollar shortage, but its management holds out the hope of resuming full production when the European Recovery Plan becomes fully effective.

The Davis Leather Co. Ltd. exports much of its production overseas, but because its markets lie in areas which are short of American dollars, or short of currency generally, export is curtailed. Canada needs American dollars and it has a surplus of sterling. To continue exports to sterling areas, as the Davis Leather Co. would be doing, would aggravate that situation. On the other hand, the flow of American dollars to those same areas which is forthcoming under the European Recovery Plan, means that Davis markets may once again have American dollars with which to buy Davis leather.

The other night, our rat Euclid was studying in his favorite empty can of peas which he had moved out to the front office window. Euclid can't get up to reach the light switches so he has to study by the window to catch the light from the street lamps.

Someone was outside the window reading an auction sale bill unaware of Euclid's academic presence on the other side of the glass. As she finished reading the last line she turned, and Euclid raised his eyebrows. Rat and reader were nose to nose in a brief moment of horror. Then she screamed and ran down Main St.; Euclid upset himself in his pea can and crawled in and hid for half an hour mulling the pons asinorum religiously.

I told Euclid he couldn't study his mathematics in the window any more nights, 'cause rats were not things which the public would want to think the Era and Express was full of, at all.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

Political Discovery Of Some Note
(The Printed Word)

In the "man-bites-dog" category of news is the report from Regina of a recent speech delivered by Jacob Benson, C.C.F. member for Last Mountain in the Saskatchewan legislature. Mr. Benson has actually dared to criticize his party, finding them less than perfect on many points. He doesn't like the system of party discipline which apparently reduces the status of M.L.A.'s to that of rubber stamps. He doesn't like the extravagance of the C.C.F. government's budget. He doesn't like, and this may be the most unkindest cut of all, the government's splurging on social services.

The C.C.F. did not invent spending on social services, which are among the common devices for bribing the taxpayers with their own money; but they have always acted as if they had a monopoly of virtue and loving-kindness towards their fellow-men. Their chief way of proving this is to take money from some of their fellow men, hoping that not too many of them belong to the C.C.F., and spread it around among others, hoping that few of the beneficiaries are Liberals or Progressive-Conservatives.

Now Mr. Benson has bluntly told his colleagues that, when the government finds it has to cut these social services, it will also find itself unpopular. It is a discovery that other politicians have made in the past. The gratitude of the electorate for apparent benefits is less certain than their resentment at the loss of anything they have been taught to consider as their right.

On Second Thought
By The Editor

Catching our cocker spaniel, Mac, in a reflective mood, I drew to his attention the mayor's proclamation of a "Be Kind to Animals Week." "Have you read it?" I asked. "Just glanced over it," said Mac, yawning and stretching. "Hope you appreciated it," I said. "Sure did. 'Hope you appreciated it,' he added with emphasis on the 'you.'"

"There was one part there that rather caught my fancy for its styling," I continued conversationally. "You mean the part that spoke of 'fitting official recognition?'" asked Mac. "Yes, that too, but I meant particularly where it said that the Be Kind to Animals Week gave us an opportunity to pay tribute to their contribution to our every day life," I said. "I was wondering just what your contribution was?"

"Oh come now, pop (we treat Mac as one of the family). Come now. Surely you have no cause to wonder in that respect," said Mac in terms of reproach. "Am I not your Best Friend?" "So the story goes," I replied, "but I was wondering if that hole you tore in my shoes was an expression of that friendship." "Just a friendly gesture, pop, some little token of esteem," said Mac airily. "I was wondering, too, about the hole you dug in the tulips, and about the bone that was left under the pillow," I pressed.

"Good Heavens, Man!" "Surely you are not taking offence at those trifles," asked Mac with surprise. "Good heavens, man, what do they compare with your leaving the not water tap running and letting the fire go out that cold day last winter. And what about the time you sneaked out without doing the dishes after you had promised?"

Fastly I changed the subject. "Getting back to the mayor's proclamation," I continued, "did you notice those words in the opening paragraph where he asks us to recognize the services of four-footed and feathered friends?" "I thought that was very well put," said Mac. "My one objection is that it probably includes cats and sparrows, and you know pop, there is nothing I detest more than cats and sparrows. However, the mayor no doubt meant well."

"I notice the mayor says that we probably don't realize what we owe you," I said. "I thought that point well taken," said Mac. "It has been my impression that you sometimes overlook this debt. I might remind you that I guard your hearth and kiddies when you are off gadding about the country." "You protect my hearth," I gasped incredulously. "You couldn't hold your own against a pekinese." "Oh come now, pop, such name-calling is beneath your dignity," said Mac. "If you are going to lower this discussion to such an unseemly level, I must end it now."

With that, Mac turned his face to the wall and went to sleep. But I notice that of late, he has been practising growls in front of the mirror.

The cook books of yesteryear were not the beautifully bound volumes, radiant in color, that pique the cook's fancy these days, but they were a good deal more practical. Some neighborhood friends, browsing through the family cook book, which is well over 60 years old, came across this simple remedy for curing pneumonia:

"Take one plug of McDonald's chewing tobacco and shave into cup of vinegar, boil and thicken with flax seed, make into two poultices and place over the pneumonia area."

Rachel Haight's "Recollections"

This is one of a series of excerpts from the "Recollections" of Rachel Webb Haight, mother of Charles Haight, Toronto, and descendant of the Hughes family who settled where Aurora is now in 1819. The "Recollections" tell of those early days.

Schools were not very numerous then. The houses were in accordance with the age of the country and poorly furnished, at perhaps better than in my parent's school days, and the teachers in point of education were—well, if they could read, write and do some arithmetic and had the presumption to offer him or herself to teach school, they might be accepted. The teacher's desk was on a platform, raised perhaps six or more inches from the floor directly opposite the entrance. The pupils' desks were arranged along the wall either way from the teacher's desk down two sides, leaving the end of either side of the door for hanging the children's belongings and a place for the water pail. These desks, or desk, I might say, was one long stationery one with a narrow shelf underneath to lay the books on when not in use, and there were not many books required. Then there were about two benches to a side of the house made from slabs, of course with the round side down, with roughly made legs put quite through a large auger hole and wedged on top to keep them in place. And the inconvenience of getting off those seats when a girl was several pupils from the end and called to her class, was considerable. She must gather her skirts carefully and turn her feet over the bench. There were similarly constructed seats in the centre of the room, not so high, for smaller children. Note the changes from then till now, not only in the buildings and equipment, but in the qualification of teachers and the advancement of pupils under present conditions. A child of ten or 12 years has more education than you would find many men possessing in the days of those rude school rooms. Will they make better men and women? Knowledge does not beget wisdom but the two combined may have a powerful influence for good, and the more knowledge the bad man has the more harm he is prepared to do to his fellow men—is it not so? My first attendance at school was an early age in a school taught by Frederick Stephens on the northeast corner of the farm then owned by James Pearson, now owned by Joseph Buckle. That house being burned, I was sent to Yonge St. to what was called McLeod's school house and taught by one George Ballard, some of whose descendants live in Western Ontario. He was an Englishman and an expert penman, a good teacher, but severe with his own children. I think on second thought there was a Caroline Kilborn to whom I went to Hartman's Corners to one J. C. Moulton, another good teacher, but a little severe on disobedience. One punishment I remember he often inflicted on unruly boys was that of sitting on nothing—that was, by placing them with back against the wall in sitting position, with nothing between them and the floor but empty space, for a specified time before an expiration of which they would writhe with the discomfort it caused. After him came Martin Young, an Englishman, followed by Andrew Lloyd, who was making teaching a stepping stone to the profession of medicine which he attained. After that I went to Friends' Boarding School at Bloomfield for six months, came home for vacation, hoping to return, not so much from thinking a "little learning a dangerous thing", as from a desire to prepare for teaching which I felt I would like to engage in. But my father thought as the McLeod school was vacant I had better try it and see how I would succeed. I taught most of two years, then took a rest, then went in again and taught the summer, but not the winter, then the next summer until sickness required my services at home and my school days were ended.

With that, Mac turned his face to the wall and went to sleep. But I notice that of late, he has been practising growls in front of the mirror.

Garden Tips

Newmarket Horticultural Society

Evergreens: This is the popular name, but conifers is more correct for at this time of the season some of these species are anything but green. They are emerging from a long rest and have accumulated a lot of dead leaves, cobwebs, dead wood and trash, so give them a brushing with a corn broom, then a thorough spraying with the hose if the weather is warm enough and you will be surprised at what a fresh appearance results from this simple action.

In no other purchase does an owner show such neglect. He will give upwards of five dollars for each specimen, take a pride in the first placing, then leave them to God and the gardener, and the gardener is not always there.

Evergreens need food, attention, and pruning just as much as any other member of the garden family. Pruning of evergreens should be done with great care, however, and cuts should not show. But pinching back the new growth of pines spruce, junipers, indeed all conifers, at the commencement of their activity will induce bushy growth further down their stems and lead to more compact specimens.

Try it on one or two specimens, watch results within three weeks. In the case of pines, just break the new end growth in two with your fingers at the end of each terminal, and if this is persistently done you will have bushy specimens in place of outstretched arms and semaphoring limbs.

And if planting a new border in front of a house, be sure to keep out and away from the building to enable the plants to get some benefit from the rains. They will grow towards the house in good time.

The shrub border: Take out any dead branches, then intelligently prune for shape and bloom. If a shrub has a drooping habit, encourage this habit and do not try to make a balloon out of it.

If it takes two years to develop flowering wood, always leave some of this two year wood.

A sage rule is to prune after flowering. The exceptions are roses and hydrangeas, which should have hard pruning as soon as frost danger to new buds is past.

The flowering shrubs will give better results if they receive a good forking over in the spring and receive a liberal mulch of well-rotted manure.

Do not allow inexperienced persons to "trim" your shrubs. They seem to take a delight in destroying their natural shape and depriving you of their bloom.

KESWICK

The W.C.T.U. held a Gospel Temperance meeting on Sunday night in the United church. Rev. R. J. Serriek, the Christian church minister, was chairman. Mrs. G. Thompson of Toronto was the guest speaker. She spoke of the great evil of drink and told of the wonderful work W.C.T.U. did in the province, that 9,767 women and girls were committed to prison through drink 12 years ago and that the W.C.T.U. women went to the prisons, knelt on the bare floor and prayed for their conversion. Out of that number, she said, 593 claimed to be converted. She gave a great Gospel message as well and said that no one had fallen so low but Christ could redeem. Mr. Cecil Prosser sang "This is my Task." The offering was in aid of the W.C.T.U. camp for teen-age girls. Those who did not attend missed a real Gospel treat.

SERVING CANADIANS THROUGH CHEMISTRY

"Chemistry?"

IT DOESN'T MEAN A THING TO ME!"

IF YOU WERE a farmer it might seem that way at first glance. But take another look!

Those fine crops, which mean so much to Canada's health and economy, often depend upon chemical fertilizers. Weed and pest destroyers, orchard sprays too, are but a few of the services that chemical research extends to agriculture.

Through good times and bad, the chemical industry plows a straight furrow, ever moving forward to create better things for farm, industry and home. Look to chemistry with confidence for a finer future... and to the C-I-L oval symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

BANQUETS

Banquets to celebrate birthdays, anniversaries, or some special event are as old as the Pharaohs, for we read in Genesis 40: 20, that on Pharaoh's birthday he made a feast, and in the Book of Daniel 5: 1, Belshazzar, King of Babylon, made a great feast to a thousand of his lords - and as recent as the banquet Newmarket Tuscan Lodge tendered to its members and guests on Thursday, May 13, to celebrate its 90th anniversary.

Of course not being a Mason but only the wife of one, I know nothing of the impressive ceremony which preceded the banquet, save what we gathered from the various speeches, but from them, we know it must have been very fine, and in one instance, a father presenting a son for induction - touching.

Being in the orchestra we were placed where we could see and hear to advantage, and it was an inspiring sight to see the animated faces of this brotherhood of men, knit together by a common purpose, the desire to benefit mankind. We heard of the great amount raised for boxes for Britain and for other benevolent purposes, and all done so quietly. The toasts, too numerous to mention individually, were all interesting and responded to with enough wit and wisdom to make them well worth listening to, even by those not Masons.

Mr. Spillet filled his exalted office in a manner that made guests, artists, and all concerned, feel that they were most welcome and vital to the success of the evening: it was a warm atmosphere of friendliness and esprit de corps which filled the crowded hall from when Rev. R. R. McMath said grace till we artists finished our supper.

For the benefit of the ladies who like to hear such things I want to write about Mrs. H. A. Jackson's response to the toast to the ladies. It was an excellent response. She said she supposed all men liked to know what women thought of them. Well, she went on, men are like lamps - they need to be kept well trimmed, and they go out at night. She said the women could feel happy enough knowing where the men were. But joking aside, she told the gathering that the women were proud and happy to have borne their part on this momentous occasion and she wished the lodge every success in the coming years. As all the speakers - or at any rate a great many of them - made reference to the pies, and also to their - the speakers's, not the pies' - state of depletion, the ladies could feel they had certainly done an excellent job.

Members of the orchestra can bear testimony to the fact that the men gave able assistance, for the night before the banquet the men labored valiantly setting up tables, covering them with white paper to protect table cloths and finally putting on the cloths, silver and serviettes.

Mr. Perrin provided the floral decorations and the tables looked very pretty as did the plates with their slices of rosy ham to which were added salads of all kinds, while dishes of olives and pickles were numerous. Ice cream, pie, coffee and soft drinks completed a menu that satisfied all tastes.

The orchestra, under Mr. Jackson's direction, Mrs. Blossdale accompanying, played throughout the supper and after each toast. There were two assisting artists, Mrs. Rourke, soprano, whom we all love to hear whether she interprets the leading lady's roles in Gilbert and Sullivan or raises us to a higher plane in some glorious church music, sang two groups of songs, "There is a Lady," and Josephine's Aria from Pinafore in the first group and Love Philosophy and another number in the second. Jack Arlitt played beautifully as always - Schubert's Serenade, and Bartlett's "A Dream." We never forget, my husband and I, that Jack Arlitt and his father, the late Paul Arlitt, came for a year, every week, and helped our little Ingleside orchestra when it was struggling into life, so tribute where tribute is due.

Two other tributes I would like to pay - to Mrs. Blossdale for her magnificent accompanying of orchestra and soloists - for to anyone who has needed accompanying, that person knows an accompanist can make or mar a performance, and to Hilda Tumelty, who, when Mr. Jackson was overwhelmed by a thousand duties, responsibilities and details, kept the orchestra working and ready for Mr. Jackson to take over again, tribute where tribute is due.

Anyway the banquet was an unforgettable occasion, even if my husband did come home with somebody else's raincoat - one with no identifying marks; there were none on his either. In a group like that there will probably be other like exchanges with so many similar coats. So with a personal good wish to Tuscan Lodge, I'll close for this week.

Next week: a Party and Chapter of District Annual.

Homemakers' Exchange

This week we have some helpful information on using fats in the home which has been sent by the consumer section of the dominion department of agriculture. Next week we shall print several recipes in which these dripping and rendered fats may be used.

To Use Fat
Smoked or fresh pork fat: when clarified, may be used in making pastry for meat pies, sausage rolls or cheese straws.

It can be used in any recipe containing spices such as gingerbread or spice cookies and, if de-flavorized, can be used even in white cakes.

Chicken fat: with its bland flavor and soft texture can be used immediately, upon being rendered, for all types of cooking.

Beef dripping: rendered beef fat (dripping) is too hard to use satisfactorily in cooking, but two cups rendered beef fat melted with one cup pork fat or lard

TIME TABLE FOR DEEP FRYING

Food	Temp.	Bread Test	Time
Fritters, doughnuts, uncooked mixtures	370F	60 sec.	3 to 5 m.
Croquettes, fishcakes, cooked mixtures in general	365-380F	60 sec.	1 to 5 m.
Potatoes, raw	380F	40 sec.	3 to 5 m.
Breaded chops	380-390F	20 sec.	5 to 8 m.
Fish Fillets	370F	60 sec.	4 to 6 m.

NOTE: - If a fat thermometer is not used, a test may be made with 1" cubes of stale bread. When an inch cube of stale bread is dropped into the hot fat, the number of seconds required to brown it will denote the temperature - see above.

and stirred occasionally while cooling to prevent separation, gives a soft, pliable fat.

Suet: as such is not a rendered fat. Once it is rendered it becomes beef fat (dripping). Suet should be chopped finely or put through a food chopper before using as a component of steamed puddings, mince meat, etc.

Lamb fat: is a hard fat with a distinctive flavor. While not satisfactory for use in making baked products, it is useful in the preparation of meat dishes. However, if, after being clarified, lamb fat is mixed with a soft fat in the proportion of one part lamb fat to seven parts soft fat, it can be used in baking.

Veal fat: is a soft mild-flavored fat which when rendered, is excellent for cooking.

Progress Marked
In Boys' Club Work

Progress has been the keynote of the various boys' clubs organized this year in York county under the department of agriculture. During the past month the four calf clubs located at Markham, Woodbridge Schomberg and

Sharon have all held their organizational meetings and in each case report an increased membership over last year with an average per club of 20 members. According to Archie McKenzie, assistant representative for York, a grain club has been established this year which includes in its membership boys from all sections of the county and known as the York County Grain club. The members undertake to sow at least one acre of registered oats and to study the advantage of sowing good seed and the many contributing factors influencing a high yield of crops where as the calf club boys are mainly concerned with learning to recognize good animals of all breeds and proper care and feeding methods of cattle, at the same time taking a deep personal interest in their own individual calf.

This year the regular meetings of the calf clubs, which include instruction on judging, have been altered somewhat to include a demonstration period. This takes in such projects as proper method of casing cattle, hoof trimming, halter-making, showmanship, fitting, trimming for the show and other educational exhibitions. As a rule these demonstrations are handled by the older boys in the club. These summer meetings are held at various farms throughout the county.

The Achievement Day when the boys show their exhibits promises to be more attractive since it is fully expected the boys will have distinguishing sweaters to indicate their membership.

The service clubs throughout the district who are supporting club work have indicated their intention of sending one or two representatives to each club meeting and it will be interesting to both parties to understand how the other carries on its activities.

The officers for the various clubs are York County Grain club, pres., Bob Hamilton, Schomberg; vice-pres., George Hooper, Buttonville; sec.-treas., Glenn Atkinson, Schomberg; club leader, Ray Ingleton, Agincourt.

Markham calf club: pres., Elson Miles, Milliken; vice-pres., Lester Weatherill, Unionville; sec.-treas., Trevor Watson, Agincourt; club leader, Jack Macklin, Concord.

Woodbridge calf club: pres., Carl Boynton, Woodbridge; vice-pres., Norman Watson, Woodbridge; sec.-treas., Don Fieldhouse, Woodbridge; club leader, Mason Fletcher, Woodbridge.

Schomberg calf club: pres., Glenn Atkinson, Schomberg; vice-pres., Jim Sheardown, Schomberg; sec.-treas., Bob Hamilton, Schomberg; club leader, Jack Wauchope, Schomberg.

Sharon calf club: pres., Bill Armstrong, Armitage; vice-pres., Clare Eves, Queensville; sec.-treas., Angus Morton, Queensville; club leader, Charles Haines, Sharon.

YORK NO. 1 TEACHERS
MEET AT NEWMARKET

Library. Just read what you want from the book and get the information you want even if it's reading only one paragraph, she advised.

Miss Hackett spoke briefly telling teachers to take an active part in their own profession, and guard their trust. "At present we have the status of a profession, but does the public recognize it?" she asked. She spoke of research and superannuation, two important topics in the challenge before teachers now.

Mr. Troit warned that each child responds differently and under different teaching methods, and said that a teacher must be careful not to assume that every child comes from an ideal home background. Attention is a basic psychological need, he said, but the child must learn to get it in a socially acceptable way. He said that it is important to give a type of education that the individual needs, an education suitable for every child.

Other speakers were Councilor R. C. Morrison who spoke briefly on behalf of Mayor Vale, and Mrs. N. L. Mathews, chairman of the public school board. Chairman of the convention was F. D. Babcock, Aurora principal, and O. M. MacKillop, school inspector, introduced the guests. Norine Walker and Nancy Jamieson played a piano duet.

Progress Marked
In Boys' Club Work

Progress has been the keynote of the various boys' clubs organized this year in York county under the department of agriculture. During the past month the four calf clubs located at Markham, Woodbridge Schomberg and

Sharon have all held their organizational meetings and in each case report an increased membership over last year with an average per club of 20 members. According to Archie McKenzie, assistant representative for York, a grain club has been established this year which includes in its membership boys from all sections of the county and known as the York County Grain club. The members undertake to sow at least one acre of registered oats and to study the advantage of sowing good seed and the many contributing factors influencing a high yield of crops where as the calf club boys are mainly concerned with learning to recognize good animals of all breeds and proper care and feeding methods of cattle, at the same time taking a deep personal interest in their own individual calf.

This year the regular meetings of the calf clubs, which include instruction on judging, have been altered somewhat to include a demonstration period. This takes in such projects as proper method of casing cattle, hoof trimming, halter-making, showmanship, fitting, trimming for the show and other educational exhibitions. As a rule these demonstrations are handled by the older boys in the club. These summer meetings are held at various farms throughout the county.

The Achievement Day when the boys show their exhibits promises to be more attractive since it is fully expected the boys will have distinguishing sweaters to indicate their membership.

The service clubs throughout the district who are supporting club work have indicated their intention of sending one or two representatives to each club meeting and it will be interesting to both parties to understand how the other carries on its activities.

The officers for the various clubs are York County Grain club, pres., Bob Hamilton, Schomberg; vice-pres., George Hooper, Buttonville; sec.-treas., Glenn Atkinson, Schomberg; club leader, Ray Ingleton, Agincourt.

Markham calf club: pres., Elson Miles, Milliken; vice-pres., Lester Weatherill, Unionville; sec.-treas., Trevor Watson, Agincourt; club leader, Jack Macklin, Concord.

Woodbridge calf club: pres., Carl Boynton, Woodbridge; vice-pres., Norman Watson, Woodbridge; sec.-treas., Don Fieldhouse, Woodbridge; club leader, Mason Fletcher, Woodbridge.

Schomberg calf club: pres., Glenn Atkinson, Schomberg; vice-pres., Jim Sheardown, Schomberg; sec.-treas., Bob Hamilton, Schomberg; club leader, Jack Wauchope, Schomberg.

Sharon calf club: pres., Bill Armstrong, Armitage; vice-pres., Clare Eves, Queensville; sec.-treas., Angus Morton, Queensville; club leader, Charles Haines, Sharon.

YORK NO. 1 TEACHERS

Library. Just read what you want from the book and get the information you want even if it's reading only one paragraph, she advised.

Miss Hackett spoke briefly telling teachers to take an active part in their own profession, and guard their trust. "At present we have the status of a profession, but does the public recognize it?" she asked. She spoke of research and superannuation, two important topics in the challenge before teachers now.

Mr. Troit warned that each child responds differently and under different teaching methods, and said that a teacher must be careful not to assume that every child comes from an ideal home background. Attention is a basic psychological need, he said, but the child must learn to get it in a socially acceptable way. He said that it is important to give a type of education that the individual needs, an education suitable for every child.

Other speakers were Councilor R. C. Morrison who spoke briefly on behalf of Mayor Vale, and Mrs. N. L. Mathews, chairman of the public school board. Chairman of the convention was F. D. Babcock, Aurora principal, and O. M. MacKillop, school inspector, introduced the guests. Norine Walker and Nancy Jamieson played a piano duet.

On Wednesday, May 12, funeral services were held for Harold Gritten at his home in Portageville, followed by a service at the graveside by his comrades of the Legion from Toronto and King.

He served overseas in the last war for five years and had only been home for two years. The community's sympathy goes to his aged parents, his wife and family, and brothers and sisters. The "Last Post" was sounded by a bugler from his own regiment. The many beautiful floral tributes were a token of the esteem of love of all his friends and comrades.

In the evening of May 12 the service of Confirmation was performed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop G. A. Wells of Toronto, assisted by Rev. E. W. Worrall of King and Rev. F. V. Abbott of Christ church. It was good to see those young men and women coming forward to take upon themselves the responsibilities of the vows made for them by their godparents at their baptism, so becoming full members of the church, with the privilege of coming to Holy Communion. The Bishop gave them a very straight talk on the seriousness of the step they had taken, pleading with them to show by their lives, they are witnesses of Christ. To come regularly to the Home of God, and live up to the promises they had just made. The church was decorated with daffodils and narcissus for the occasion. The reception was held after the service in the parish hall where everyone met Bishop Wells and his gracious wife. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Guild.

St. W.A. To Assist Church Renovation

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. James' church, Sharon, met May 12 at Mrs. W. Osler's home with an attendance of 16 members and two visitors, Mrs. W. Wilson and Mrs. C. Jackson, Kingston.

Prayers and Scripture reading opened the meeting, Mrs. H. Moss offering to read in June. An interesting report was given by those who attended the 62nd annual in Toronto, Mrs. F. Hall reporting for the senior branches and Mrs. E. Kiteley for the girls. Mrs. Osler, as one of the diocesan committee, told of the improvements in Cartwright cottage at Huntsville where 30 returned missionaries may have a vacation this summer.

Mrs. Thomas had received a letter of thanks for the parcel to Miss Curtis in Britain. Many articles of wearing apparel were received and packed at the close of the meeting for mission work. Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Kiteley and Mrs. F. Hall will be representing committee for the June meeting to be at Mrs. W. Grose's home.

Mrs. W. Willmot reported on the church council activities and the renovation of the church. The meeting unanimously voted a sum of money toward this work and all supported the suggestion of the appeal to be made in the future to the parish and adherents as a considerable amount would be needed to meet the expense.

Mrs. J. A. Winch took the chapter from the study book on Indian residential schools.

Mrs. J. Hall volunteered to continue the chapters for June. Our hostess and lunch committee served tea on this lovely spring day in a living-room gaily decorated with wild flowers.

75 Bushel Club Organized In York

Meeting recently in the office of the agricultural representative at Newmarket, a number of interested growers organized a competition in husking corn to be known as the York County 75 Bushel Corn Club. About a dozen and a half have already signed up and anyone interested can obtain particulars from W. M. Cockburn, Newmarket, secretary, York County Crop Improvement Association.

Prizes to the total value of $150 are being provided by Toronto Elevators. The rules call for a block of three acres and the contestants may plant any variety they wish. It is expected that most of them will use the No. 355 hybrid as it is one of the heaviest yielding husking varieties and early enough to be matured before a frost.

Mechanical corn pickers, both single and two-row, are now available in the county for husking and this solves what has been one of the big problems with husking corn. Mr. Cockburn has pointed out that corn in many cases is yielding much more feed grain than the cereals, particularly barley since it has been so subject to mildew disease in recent years. The potato growers have also decided to carry on the 500 Bushel Potato Club and the winners in this will be eligible for the $500 prize contest at the Royal Winter Fair.

PLAN GUERNSEY PICNIC

The Ontario Guernsey Association has recently announced that its annual picnic will be held at the farm of Jack Fraser, Concord, on Saturday, June 12, 1948. A large amount of the responsibility for the organization of this day has been left with the newly organized York-Simcoe Guernsey club.

HOME FROM THE LAND OF THE HEATHER

Billy Mandell is home from the land of the heather and catching up on some of those Canada table delicacies, which are rare overseas. Young Mandell flew from Scotland with 35 other young Lochinvars of the ice lanes who enjoyed a successful season of puck-chasing. The kids chartered the plane and made the trip in some 30 odd hours. Whether or not Bill returns to Scotland is a question mark. He's been offered a contract, but kinda fancies a year in Canada before returning. He had a 64-point scoring season with 40 goals to his credit. That was the second highest record on the Paisley team. They finished fourth in the regular season but at least four cup series were played as is the Scottish system to keep interest high. Mandell has no complaints, he was treated well, likes the fans and he returned with a fair amount in the kitty. More Canadian youths than ever will go across the pond next year and they'll be youngsters, too.

He reports Howard Forgie, the clever pivot player from Markham, has been seriously ill and out of the game for two months with a nervous breakdown. Forgie is returning by boat and unless he recovers this summer will not return. In case any district puckchaser has the yen to proceed to Scotland, Bill will give them the lowdown. The practices will be in Toronto and Montreal in August. Mandell expects to try his hand at softball with Aurora and probably could be persuaded to turn out for Newmarket lacrosse team. He played fair boxla as a junior.

Don Walsh is driving the Aurora softballers in their workouts and mo' be surprised to see two or three more canaltowners with Aurora. Ron Simmons, young baseball and hockey star, will try his hand at mushball this year, following in the steps of "Gaby" Doolittle and Bill McGhee and Eric Smith, both in the same class as Simmons, will also be candidates. Holdovers from last season include Doolittle, Mickey Sutton, Gerry Worth, Red Castles, George Hodgins, Earl "I'll lay one down" MacDonald, Andy O'Neil, who chucked smart ball last season, as well as one or two others. Red Mitchell will bolster the hurling staff. Bill Attridge, Frank Gregoire, Bill Capel, Doug Clarke are also working out. The Dyke brothers from Pine Orchard are also looked for. Could be that Walsh will come up with a real contender. It won't be for want of trying.

On the subject of softball, Charlie Proctor, who used to be one of the stalwart of the Richmond Hill club, is the principal of the new Armour Heights school where the Prog-Con's convention was held. For those who want to see the last word in modern public school buildings, Charlie has welcome on the door mat.

The clans battled it out at Woodbine last week. By that we mean Jack Stewart snatched a promising rag called Silverskins from John Stuart for a grand. The lowlanders had better watch out from now on. Stuart is all smiles these days as Buntz Line, his good two-year-old, is rounding to form. A first and a third in two starts and the best is yet to come. Keswick has hit the limelight this year as a good training centre for horses. Harry Lahman and trainer Morris Fishman have worked out their horses all winter in the gales off Lake Simcoe and they've showed as good as those who wintered in the south. Lahman has an entry in the King's Plate called Coleraine. Since we won't be here for the plate we give you Jim Fair's Last Mark as the winner. We also like Lord Fairmond and as a longer shot Progressive-Conservative candidate Charlie Turner's All-British. While not touted for the guineas, ex-Newmarket boy Norman Heise's product Kid Rumble named after a well known Vaughan twp. family, is another likely outsider. Harry Lahman mentioned above, in case you've forgotten once was in the garage business in Newmarket.

Hal Rogers, trouble shooter de luxe of district softball, has been named as secretary-treasurer of the Aurora recreation council. The right man in the right place, egad! Aurora Legion Field Day, one of the big sporting events of the year, will be held on August 15. Billy Bowen, ace of the Langstaff hurling staff, has lost his first two starts of the season at Davisville Park and been hit rather hard in both games. That's no criterion, however, of what he'll do in North Yonge softball. Fred Morris has signed another senior hurler to aid Bowen on the hilltop and blessed with youth and hustle, the Langstaff team will be mighty hard to beat this year. Morris has donated a cup to most valuable player in the league this year. Russ Burrows, Markham, ex-horse shoe champ and Toronto navy softballer, is playing the outfield and pitching for Hamblays in Toronto this summer.

Ontario Canadian Legion had added a C series to their popular softball series in which over 200 branches will be represented this year. The new series will look after the smaller centres. Golf, soccer and lawn bowling are on the summer agenda for the Legionaires, and over 100 branches have joined the fast growing parade of those sponsoring minor sports. Bill Hatfield of the Aurora branch will shortly re-open his boxing and P.T. classes which proved so popular last season with the Aurora small fry and not-so-small fry at Aurora A-mories. John Perry, former all-round athlete at Aurora high and one of Canada's leading airman, proved he can handle himself equally as well on the political rostrum as he sponsored "Lex" Mackenzie in a neat speech at Willowdale recently. If you're out for a drive, take a jaunt over towards Nobleton and see the work underway on the community arena in that centre. Practically all the necessary funds have been raised and the village will have a fine hockey arena ready for ice when next winter comes. With no water system, a cistern making use of rain water and melted snow from the roof, plus a pump will keep the necessary supply of water available for ice. The example of the folks down Nobleton way puts to shame the efforts of many larger communities we could name. The old slogan "it can be done", can't be beaten if everybody takes off their coats and goes to work.

Brownhill At Vandorf As Simcoe Loop Opens

By GEORGE HASKETT

Lake Simcoe softball enthusiasts won't have long to wait to see their favorites in action. Ivan Eves publicist of the Lake Simcoe circuit gives out with the good news that first action is due Wednesday, May 26. The league has been increased to ten teams with the acceptance by the executive of an entry from Brownhill. The ten teams will engage in a single schedule. The Simcoe softballers have an ambitious program running from late in May until the latter end of August. Believe me, it will be unusual if there isn't some action on one of the diamonds throughout the circuit from Monday to Friday of each week during the summer. Better pick your favorites and get in there swinging.

The league have lined up Cge Carpenter and Herb Crittenden to "call em" in the northern section, while Lorne Ramsay and Dan Gill will take up stations behind the plate in the southern reaches of the league.

Now, to get back to those opening tussles, at which by the way, the league hopes to have one of their officers put the official seal of action. It will be Brownhill at Vandorf May 26, action swinging to the Queensville diamond on the following evening. Queensville will be playing host to the Pine Orchard nine and on May 28 Willow Beach will stage their opening "at home" with Mount Albert providing the visiting opposition.

Open Fire At Home At Stuart Scott School Grounds

By GEO. HASKETT JR.

The big news of the week is that the North Yonge Softball league will stage their big opening Tuesday, June 1. The Newmarket Vets will hold out the welcoming hand to the visiting Thornhill team at the Stuart Scott school grounds, at least until "the ump's" sing out with "play ball," then everything goes. It will be the same story all over again at the Aurora town park with the revamped Aurora nine playing host to Fred Morris' Langstaff crew.

North Yonge Softball executive, managers and coaches gathered in Newmarket Tuesday night. President Doug May and secretary Harold Rogers accepted four entries in the league. They are Aurora, Langstaff, Thornhill and Newmarket. The constitution got a good going over and after considerable discussion passed through with little change. The "open series" which allows each club to bring in two players from outside the district governed by the league brought up the most chin wagging but got the o.k. finally from three teams, the local club dissenting.

The forepart of the schedule reads as follows: Tues., June 1, Thornhill at Newmarket; Langstaff at Aurora; Thurs., June 3, Newmarket at Langstaff; Aurora at Thornhill.

Intermediate Baseball

Can it be true that intermediate baseball will return to the local summer sport scene? Yes sir, it's a distinct possibility. Here's the picture. Aurora, Stouffville and Markham have junior teams in the making. Newmarket will form an intermediate club and get their baptism of competition in the group with their junior adversaries. Thus the canaltown would get a bye into intermediate C or B rating at the worst in the O.B.A. playoffs. More on this as soon as the town league comes up with a decision on their program. It might be wise at this point to stop and sum up the prospects available for diamond duty should the set-up go through. Stan Winger looks like a sure bet to remain with the locals, with Carl "Shorty" Turan another possibility for catching duty. For mound work, Ollie Gould, Bill Hopper and Moo Walsh are likely to see action, while infield and outfield work is looked for from Bob Peters, Bill Haskett, Herb. Cain, Pete Neufeld, and several others baseballers due for a return to the diamond.

A last call to junior players. If you are interested in taking up the court game, Keith Davis is conducting a school at the rear of his residence, beginning this Saturday and running until June 26. The school will be in operation for an hour each Saturday morning, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Mr. Davis is well qualified to give out with the instruction being present tennis champion of both Newmarket and Aurora Tennis Clubs. And the best news of all for your pocket book, Keith will give out with the fore-hand, back-hand service and what have you, free gratis. President Jack Peppitt and his executive are going all out this summer to boost their membership especially among the teen-agers.

Midget Baseball

Manager Bill Haskett has had his Lions midget hardballers out for a couple of work-outs, but like everyone else has been taking a beating from the rain-makers. Indications point to a stronger club than last year. In fact all of last year's team is available for duty with the exception of Don Gibson who has to step up into the juvenile grouping age, you know. Gibson, incidentally, will make a try for Aurora Juniors as several more of Newmarket junior squad. Right now, to intercept a vote against the weather, so far as the ball managers and players go, any of the political parties contesting the provincial election than can promise to do something about the weather will head the poll by a large margin.

Ladies' Softball

Newmarket ladies' softball team aren't wasting any time in getting into action. They start their softball battles to-

Hey! Mom and pop and sister Sue--well, mom and pop anyway--why not put away that rake and hoe for a night? The lawn can wait for another evening, but the national midget softball league can't. Why not take a trip over to the S.S. school grounds, any Monday or Tuesday night and see junior play ball in the midget league. If junior hasn't spoken about it, it's high time he did, or if you give a listen here's the story.

Seven teams, and fine teams they are, are battling it out for the national league championship. The teams have been operating for three weeks now, and believe me, there have been all kinds of games, close ones, slow ones, quick ones and some where the scorekeeper was busier than a scared jack rabbit trying to out-run a blast from Farmer Brown's shot gun.

Right now the Dodgers--always our favorite National League team, are riding the crest of a four-game winning streak. Ron Coveney, "Cov" for short, has been flinging some nifty softball to keep his team in front. The Dodgers won another Monday night, taking the Braves into camp 14-9. In the other contest the Giants squeezed--and we mean squeezed--out a win in the final innings as they staged a five-run uprising to overcome the Pirates' lead, the final count reading Giants 10, Pirates 9. The Cubs and Blue Jays along with the long suffering public were victims of the weatherman and had to postpone their contest.

Tuesday games: Braves 22, Cards 0; Braves 5, Blue Jays 3; Blue Jays 12, Cubs 4; Giants 14, Cards 12.

The Braves took a double-header and the Cards lost two. The Blue Jays split their two contests.

night at the Stuart Scott diamond. The opposition will be Barrie Kopacs. Actually the game is billed as an exhibition tilt, but will give the locals an opportunity for a trial of strength with the Barrie League teams. As mentioned last week the Newmarket girls are in the Barrie league this summer. It goes without saying Manager Frank Courtney will have his team going all out to start the season off on the right foot. League play is likely to get underway June 3 with a possible home game and the schedule calls for the canal town to journey to Shanty Bay Thursday, June 4.

Scheduled Sports: The lacrosse boys are still marking time and getting anxious. No word as yet from the south as to a league grouping. The squad deserted the outdoors to hold their practice sessions in the arena starting last Friday.
